

BOILER SWAP-OUT: PROVIDING INTERIM HEATING SOLUTIONS

When existing buildings or new construction projects need temporary heating solutions, ICS helps property managers and jobsite supervisors keep their cool!

Many apartments, schools, office complexes and other commercial buildings depend on continually functioning boilers for space heat and hot potable water. If your boiler needs to be removed for decommissioning, maintenance or replacement, your building and its occupants will be left without heat and hot water. That's when you need the ICS Portable Central Heating Unit – an interim heating solution to keep your building up and running...and its occupants warm.

Safe, clean and affordable, the ICS Portable Central Heating Unit is a non-pressurized vessel. It is open to the atmosphere, eliminating the need for a technician to operate the system. ICS will deliver and set up the unit for you outside the building or with proper venting inside. The Central Heating Unit runs inexpensively on propane, natural gas or diesel.

The unit can also interface directly with the building's permanent distribution systems, vents or radiators. If your existing distribution system is not functional due to fire or flood damage, interface issues or any other cause, ICS can provide its own distribution system with the Central Heating Unit to ensure uninterrupted service.

ICS Group supplies interim heating solutions to existing buildings where boiler systems will be replaced. The same benefits can be realized where occupancy of buildings under construction is threatened due to mechanical system operating delays. ICS can provide temporary solutions that will allow occupancy of the building at the scheduled time even without the operation of the buildings permanent boiler or HVAC system.
